

The Science of Real

Our investment of $50 million in research and product development has paid dividends in bringing Real Food Technology™ solutions to the wellness world. We pride ourselves on having one of the most advanced in-house research and development labs in the industry. Our scientists have pioneered many advancements in the wellness industry, including the groundbreaking discovery of glyconutrients and the development of Real Food Technology solutions—our method of using plant-based, naturally occurring ingredients to create nutritional supplements.

Our science team is unmatched and has filed more than 45 patents worldwide for the technology behind our Ambrotose® products, guaranteeing some of the most unique products available for you and your family.
